Christianity, Islam, and Judaism are usually treated as autonomous religions, but in fact across the long course of their histories the three religions have developed in interaction with one another. How have Jews, Christians, and Muslims lived with and thought about one another in the past, and what can that past tell us about how they do so today?

Thursday, May 12th
5:30pm, UCSD Faculty Club

A talk in memory of Jerome & Miriam Katzin

About the Speaker

David Nirenberg is the Deborah R. and Edgar D. Jannotta Professor in the Committee on Social Thought, the Department of History, and the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures, as well as Dean of the Social Sciences Division. His books include Communities of Violence: Persecution of Minorities in the Middle Ages (1996), Anti-Judaism: The Western Tradition (2013); Neighboring Faiths: Christianity, Islam, and Judaism, Medieval and Modern (2014), and Aesthetic Theology and its Enemies: Judaism in Christian Painting, Poetry, and Politics (2015).

Light dinner and wine will be served.